DETAILED ACTION

Response to election of species requirement filed 06/13/2007 is acknowledged.

Claims 1-57, 102,103,155-167 are currently pending. Based on applicant's election of claims 9, 18, 36 for Groups A, B, and C, respectively, claims 7, 10-13,19,20 are withdrawn from consideration as drawn to non-elected species.

Upon further consideration of claims 1-6, 8, 9, 14-18, 21-57, 102,103,155-167, the following additional restriction/election requirement was deemed to be necessary.

Restriction/Election of Species Requirement

Restriction is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 and 372.

This application contains the following inventions or groups of inventions which are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

In accordance with 37 CFR 1.499, applicant is required, in response to this action, to elect a single invention to which the claims must be restricted.

- I. Claims 1-6, 8, 9, 14-18, 21-57, 102,103,155-163, drawn to method of obtaining information about chemically active area of a molecule
- II. Claims 164-167, drawn to method of mapping active area of biological target.

The inventions listed as Groups I, II do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, they lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons: Each of the Groups I,

Art Unit: 1631

II claims a distinct and separate method. The methods do not share a special technical feature because each method contains specific and unique method steps which are not shared by another method (e.g., method of Group II requires the limitations of gauge having geometric structure; target being "biological target", step of mapping active area), each of the methods having a distinct outcome (obtaining information about chemically active area of a molecule, and mapping active area of biological target., respectively) Thus, groups I, II do not share a corresponding special technical feature.

Inventions listed in this action are independent or distinct for the reasons given above and there would be a serious search and examination burden if restriction were not required because one or more of the following reasons apply:

- (a) the inventions have acquired a separate status in the art in view of their different classification;
- (b) the inventions have acquired a separate status in the art due to their recognized divergent subject matter;
- (c) the inventions require a different field of search (for example, searching different classes/subclasses or electronic resources, or employing different search queries);
- (d) the prior art applicable to one invention would not likely be applicable to another invention;
- (e) the inventions are likely to raise different non-prior art issues under 35 U.S.C. 101 and/or 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a invention to be examined even though the requirement may be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected invention.

Art Unit: 1631

The election of an invention may be made with or without traverse. To reserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse. Traversal must be presented at the time of election in order to be considered timely. Failure to timely traverse the requirement will result in the loss of right to petition under 37 CFR 1.144. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which of these claims are readable on the elected invention.

If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which of these claims are readable upon the elected invention.

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the inventions are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the inventions to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) of the other invention..

Election of Species Requirement

In addition, the claims of Group I are individually or dependently directed to a plurality of the following disclosed patentably distinct species of the generic invention:

Art Unit: 1631

- A. For claims 155, 157, species of step of "Analyzing", such as characterizing and taking rigidity into account.
- B. For claims 14 (or 16), 57, 102 - species of further step conducted in addition to steps recited in claims 1.

Applicant is required, in response to this action, to elect a single species to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. The response must also identify the claims readable on the elected species, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered non-responsive unless accompanied by an election.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which are written in dependant form or otherwise include all the limitations of an allowed generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species.

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) of the other invention.

Art Unit: 1631

To be complete, a response to the election of species requirement should include a proper election along with a listing of all claims readable thereon, including any claims subsequently added.
